and a new, first-class company. GROVER'S THEATER .- This is the only night positively of "Richard III," in which the great combination company will appear. This play is too well known to need any mention whatever, and the combination at Mr. Grover's theater have proved themselves the favorites of the Metropolis. All who wish to witness this excellent performance cannot do better than to procure their tickets early, as a perfect jam is anticipated.

chance. Monday night, the "Seven Sisters,"

CANTERBURY .- To-night, it will be remembered, closes the engagement of the bewitching young actress and vocalist, Cherry Belle, at the Canterbury, and those who have not yet seen her will miss a treat by not going to-night. Wray, Mons. Deverney and Jennie Walton, all excellent performers, will appear. Matinee for ladies and children this afterneon.

SANDERSON'S MINSTRELS .- This famous band of Ethiopian performers give a grand matinee for ladies and children, and to-night they again appear at the Washington Theater. Ladies fond of good singing now have an excellent opportunity to gratify themselves, as some of the best singers in the protession accompany this troupe.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION .- The case of M. Thompson, agt. Thomas F. Bowie, was before the District Supreme Court, sitting in banc recently, on a bill of exceptions, from the ruling of Chief Justice Cartter, who held the term of the Circuit Court, at which the jury returned a verdict for the defendant. This suit was brought to recover the amount of three promisory notes made by Bowie on the 1st of January, 1857, for $1,000 each, payable to the order of one Frank Steers, from whom the plaintiff purchased the notes.

The defense was, that each of these notes were given for a gaming consideration, and they were therefore void in the hands of even a bona fide holder for value. To make good this defense, the counsel for Bowie were able only to introduce circumstantial evidence, which was in effect that Steers, the payee of the notes was a common gambler, and at the time the notes were given was the keeper of a gambling house on Pennsylvania avenue, and that he had no other business and was possessed of no property. They also showed that the body of the notes were in the handwriting of John R. James, another common gambler, and a habitue of Steer's establishment, and that there was another note made by Bowie of a like amount and date, made payable to the order of John Campbell, another gambler and employee of Steer, to deal faro. They also proved that on the day of the date of the notes that Bowie was grossly intoxicated and entirely unfit for any business whatever, and that when under the influence of liquor he had a propensity and habit which he could not control, to habituate gaming establishments and play at their games.

The plaintiff objected to the ruling of Chief Justice Cartter in admitting this evidence, and by bills of exception the case came before the court in banc, where it was argued by Mr. R. J. Brent for Col. Thompson, and Messrs. Wal. ter S. Cox and S. L. Phillips for Gen. Bowie. The opinion of the Court was delivered by Ohief Justice Cartter, as follows .

The proofs in reference to the defendant in this case, Bowie, being intoxicated, was that he was irrational under the influence of it. In the case of insanity, it would be perfectly competent to prove the idiosyncracies of the in ans person when he was in that condition. Why not when reduced to the condition of temporary inebriety! In reference to the action of the court below, in refusing to take the case away from the jury, the members of that court had no doubt that the circumstances were amply sufficient to justify court in so doing; and as regards the verdict, he would say that from the character of the evidence it would have been a reflection upon their intelligence and honesty had they not rendered just the verdict they did.

As to the point taken that the plaintiff in this action stood in a different position from the payee of the note, that court could not perceive the distinction. These notes were condemned by the law and had no virtue in the hands of the endorsee. What would have been the proof if this man

Steers had been in court instead of Thompson, and he wished for the credit of the bar that it had been. This case, he said would then be presented. Bowie, a member of Congress, a member of the bar, and a man in reputable standing is reduced on a festal occasion to inebriety so as to deprive him of all reason and judgment. He is seen going through the streets in this condition at two o'clock in the morning and that is the last heard of him, until the next day, when three gamblers are found in possession of his notes to the amount of $1,000 It had been argued that the law presumed they were given for a valid consideration. That was true, but that presamption was under the rule of the circumstances. The circumstantial evidence in this case, if it went no further, went far enough to put the plaintiff upon explanation, and the fact that this case had been pending five years, with all the facilities of a member of the bar to secure the proof requisite to illustrate the true consideration of this transaction, his failure to do so, in the opinion of the Court, authorized the conclusion that the notes were given for a gambling consideration, and Thompson knew it.

These were the convictions of the Court on the subject, and he would say, as far as he was concerned, that he never did a judicial act with greater cheerfulness than to affirm the judgment of the Court below. Col. Thompson gave notice of an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States.

BILLIARD MATCH .- Another contest at billiards was had at the splendid saloons of Mr. Geary last evening, which took place between Messrs, Phelan and Kavanagh. We noticed among those present Mayor Wallach, Brig. Gen Terry, Superintendent Webb, members of the press; and a number of the knights of the one. The playing was splendid, and was frequently applauded. Mr. Phelan made one run of 119 points, coming off winner, the game being a close one. A game was then played between Gavraud and Phelan, the game resulting in favor of Gayraud-the score standing 30 for Gayraud and 24 for Phelan.

The party played at various other saloons during the evening. Mr Geary's tables are made of laurel brought from California by the celebrated player, Michael Phelan. TRIED FOR GRAND LARCENY .- The parties arrested by officers Tucker and Leach, of the Sixth Ward, on the charge of stealing a silver watch, money, ciothing, &c., to the amount of $200, had a hearing Thursday, before Justice Thompson. Moses Black was committed to answer to the charge of grand larceny; Mary F. Holmes and Ann Snowden were committed for having in their possession stolen goods: James Evans, Mary E. Neal, and Pink Jackson were acquitted. LOST ON THE AVENUE.-Last night, a lady and gentleman got off a street car, supposed to be No. 50, at the crossing of the avenue at 4% street. They had a large trunk, which they left in the middle of the avenue, and walked to the United States Hotel. The gentleman left the lady at the hotel, and returned for the trunk, but it had disappeared. The police were immediately notified, but could get no clue to the trunk, nor see any one who saw it re-FOURTH WARD STATION CASES .- Margaret Shea, threats; dismissed—also, for indecent language; $2.58. James Donnelly, drunk and disorderly; military.
